

Magist as a Potential Partner for High-Tech Sales in Brazil

Strategy for Eniac

Presented by:
Oleksandra Tkachenko

Sanaz Arianmanesh

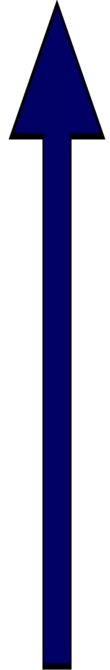

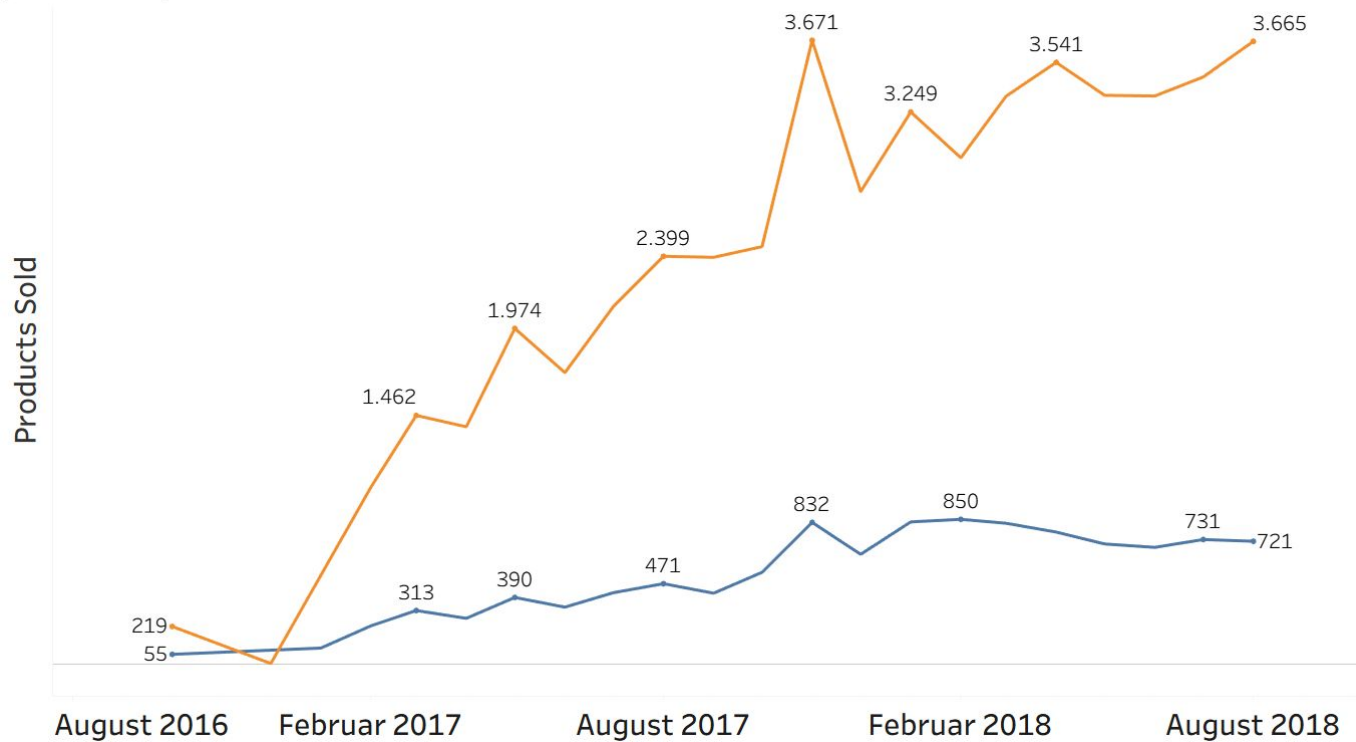

Benno Klan

Magist Overview

- Magist as a centralized order, logistics, and after-sales service provider that operates in Brazil with own warehouse
- Market entry plan: ENIAC considers a 3-year partnership with Magist to enter Brazil
- 25 months of Magist data are analyzed to assess fit for ENIAC's high-end tech and delivery needs.

All products vs tech products

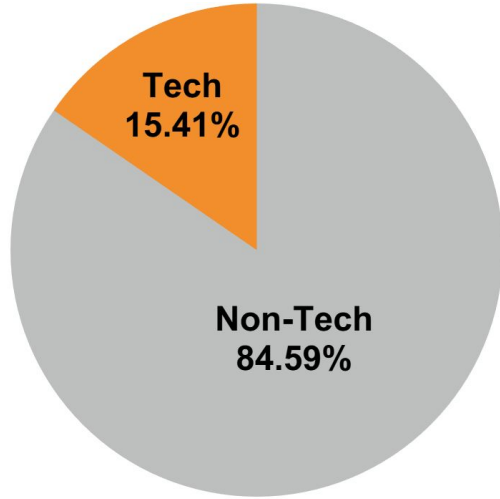

Are expensive tech products popular?

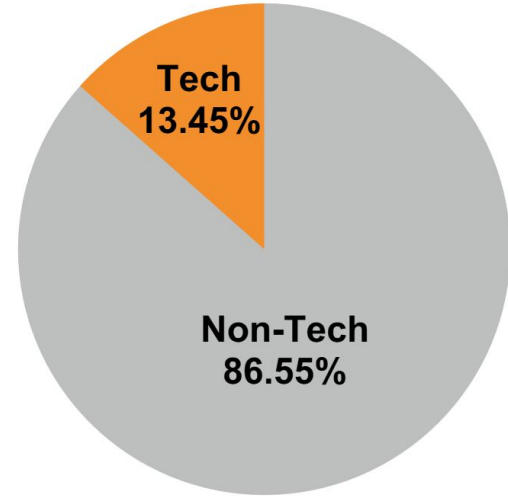

- Eniac avg. Item price: 540 €
- Magist avg. Item price: 121 €

Number of Sellers: Tech vs Non-Tech

- Tech sellers represent a small minority compared to non-tech sellers

Revenue Share: Tech vs Non-Tech

- Tech sellers play a limited role in overall revenue.

Average Time from Order Placement to Delivery

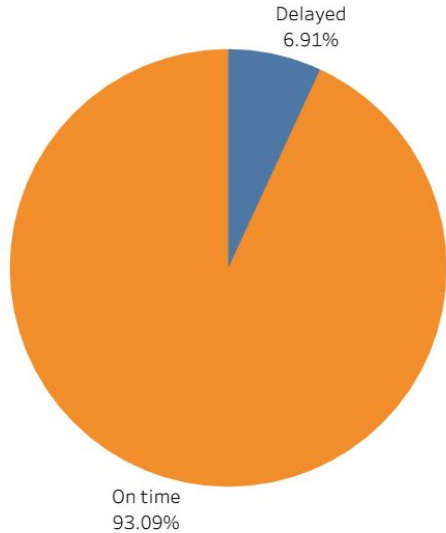

- Brazil's size results in long delivery times of about 21 days in 2020.
- Average delivery time is 12 days, which improved in 2018.

Average Delivery Time by State (Days)

- Delivery times vary significantly across states, with some regions showing consistently longer delivery durations.
- Delivery in São Paulo state takes 9 days.

Order delivered on time vs orders delivered with a delay

- Approximately 7% of delivered orders were delayed
- About 93% of orders were delivered on time

Average Weight vs Delay Range

- Orders weighing up to 2 kg are delivered on time.

Conclusion

✓ Magist fits to Eniac's needs as a short-term entry partner:

- Growing delivery volume
- Improving delivery performance

⚠ But not an ideal long-term partner for ENIAC's high-end tech strategy:

- Low tech focus
- Delivery risk for large products

Thank you

Appendix

Potential Competitors

Mercado Livre (MELI):

- founded in 1999
- recognized as a market leader in Brazil's online shopping ecosystem
- offers same-day or next-day delivery in large metropolitan areas such as São Paulo

- remote areas within 7-15+ days by the state postal service (Correios)
- logistics infrastructure expanded